

Holder

What rights will X have with regard to the following negotiable instruments? Explain, in particular, whether X is a holder, a holder in due course or a mere possessor.

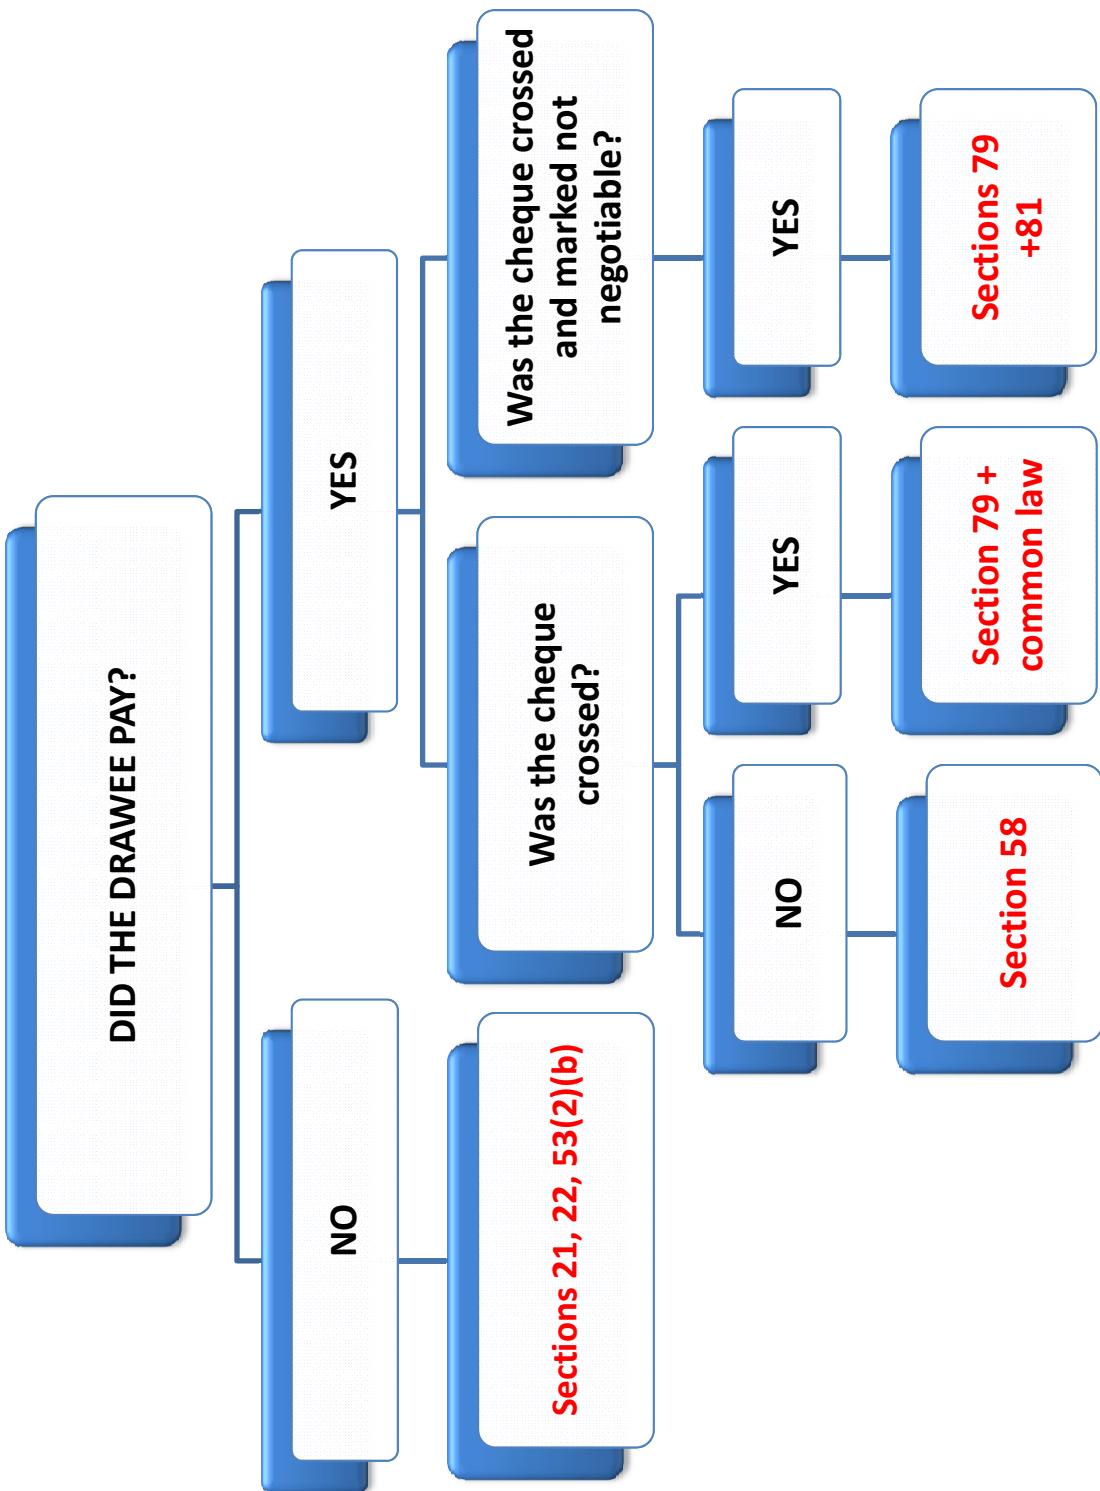

A draws a bill on B in favour of C and delivers it to him. C endorses the bill and delivers it to X the bill became overdue. (3)

A draws a crossed cheque on B bank in favour of C or order and delivers it to C. C is actually a minor who, without the consent of his guardian, specially indorses the cheque in favour of X and delivers it to him.(6)

What are the rights of a holder?

- The holder may
 - sue on the bill in his or her own name (section 36(a))
 - present the bill for acceptance (section 39(1))
 - present the bill for payment (section 43)
 - power to supplement certain deficiencies (section 10)
 - power to make certain additions (section 31(4) or section 76)
 - right to a duplicate of the bill (section 76)

- A draws an uncrossed cheque on B bank in favour of C or order. C indorses the cheque specially to D and delivers it to him. D gives the cheque to his secretary (E) to pay into his bank account. E forges D's signature on the back of the cheque and receives payment from B bank over the counter. Will B Bank be liable for such payment?
[7]

- A draws a bill on B payable to “C or order” and delivers it to C. D steals the bill from C, forges C’s signature on the back of the bill and delivers it to E. E changes the forged “indorsement” to an indorsement in his (E’s) name, signs the bill and delivers it to X, who takes it in good faith and for value. Can X enforce payment of the bill against any of the following parties?
 - (i) A (2)
 - (ii) D (1)
 - (iii) C (1)
 - (iv) E (6)
